BREED THEATER.

"The Girl and the Fugitive," Thrilling Western Story.

Western Story.

One of the snapplest and brightest pictures at the Breed theater this week is the amusing yet thrilling story of western life entitled The Girl and the Fugitive. It is a pretty story of a ranch girl who assists in concealing a much-hunted cowboy, who has befriended her earlier in the plot but as the girl is about to be insulted by a pursuing cowboy, he jumps from his place of concealment, and again protects her, but this time is captured. As the leader of the mob of cowboys is turning to go to the door to give the signal that he has captured the fleeing cowboy the girl cuts the binding cords, and the captive immediately engages in a hand-to-hand fight with the leader of the pursuit, and compels him to state to the waiting cowboys that the search is fruitless and that it must be abandoned.

Some very amusing comedy by the Biograph company is also on the bill, and other dramatic features, all of which are highly acceptable to the large audiences which have greeted every performance this week.

Miss Shuwny sings the catchy illustrated song, My Irish Caruso, which contains snatches of grand opera, introduced with the popular airs. She also sings Comical Eyes, a screamingly funny coon song, with still funnier pictures.

MEAT PRICES IN 1889.

MEAT PRICES IN 1889.

Circular That Caused Much Comment Twenty Years Ago Compared with the Present Prices.

J. W. Anderson of Shelton was engaged in the meat business a little over twenty years ago, and in looking over his old papers he came across a list of prices issued by him in 1889, and which he remembers caused much comment at the time. Comparing the prices then quoted with those now obtaining for the same quality of meat will prove interesting reading. The prices are as follows:

Round steak, then 12c, now 20 to 22c per pound.

Shoulder steak, then 10c, now 12 to 14c per pound, Sirloin steak, then 18c, now 22 to 24c per pound.

Porterhouse steak, then 20c, now 25 to 20c per pound.

Country pork, then 12c, now 16 to 20c per pound.

Plate beef, then 5 to 7c, now 9c per

Bologna sausage, then 12c, now 14 to 18c per pound.
Best rib roast, then 12 to 16c, now

Best rib roast, then 12 to 16c, now 26 to 22c per pound.

Spring lamb, then 12 to 16c, now 22 to 25c per pound.

Corned beef, then 5 to 7c, now 9 to 16c per pound.

Sugar cared hams, then 14c now 25c and upwards per pound.

It must not be thought by this that the meat dealers are growing wealthy at the present prices, as it is a fact that the wholesale prices are higher in proportion, in many lines, than the retail ones of the present time, as compared with those of that day.

BAPTISTS MUST WORK.

Palling Behind in Hartford, the Local Union is Told.

The Hartford Post says:
That the increase in the number of Baptists in this city has not kept pace with the growth of population was shown by statistics which the Rev. Dr. H. M. Thompson gave at a meeting of the Hartford Baptist union Sunday

br. Thompson said that the increase in the number of Baptists in Hartford in twenty years was 40 per cent, while the increase in the population was 100 per cent

In Hartford in 1890 he said the Baptists were 2 1-2 per cent. of the population, while today they are 1 4-5, and in order to keep their pace in the work of evangelization Baptists must strike out for themselves and all work to-gether.

Dr. Thompson told about the work that has been done in Binghamton, N. Y. in the last twenty years in that

Other speakers were Rev. Arthur S. Burrows of Worcester, Mass., and Rev. Dr. Herbert Judson White and Rev. Dr. W. G. Fennell of this city. Mr. Burrows described the mission work in Worcester, where 70 per cent. of a population of 150,000 is foreign born.

A Valuable Book.

A Valuable Book.

The Connecticut geological and natural history survey has just issued a book which shows that, according to the fullest information now available, there are 1,948 species of flowering plants and ferns which grow without cultivation within the limits of the state. Of these, 1,487 are believed to be native to the state, and 461 have been introduced designedly or accidentally by man. If to the number of species is added the number of forms distinct enough to receive names, but not believed to be entitled to specific rank, the total number of plants named in the book is 2,228. The book supplies a long felt need, and will be heartily welcomed by all interested in the plants of the state, and doubtless particularly by the teachers of science in the schools of the state.

A Bad Bargain.

A Bad Bargain.

Fred Hoff of Glastonbury sold his tobacco crop to a junk dealer a few days ago. It amounted to $69 and the dealer in old iron and bottles gave him his check for it. The check proved to be no good and Mr. Hoff spent $10 paying a lawyer to hunt him up. It was found that he had left Hartford and Hoff is out $70.

Times Do Change. Mr. Bryan will doubtless be aston-fied to learn on his return to this nuntry that the most distinguished emecrat in Massachusetts is not songe Fred Williams, but Eugene N. loss.—New York Tribune.

ECZEMA KILLED SLEEP

"I suffered with eczema for one year. First of all there were small white pimples on my left hand and I had to scratch until the blood came. Then they would puff up and water would run out. Wherever this water would run there would be more pimples until my whole left hand was a mass of sores. Then my other hand became affected and they were like pieces of raw meat. Then it came on my face, neck and under my right arm so that I was unable to raise my arm for two weeks. It became so had that I was obliged to give up work. About four months ago I started to doctor and the doctor told me it was eczema. So he told me to get — ointment and soap. I used them for a month and they didn't do me one bit of good so I tried another doctor. He gave me three different kinds of medicines but did not help me. I was unable to sleep at night and I gave up all hope until I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used Cuticura Soap. Ointment and Resolvent and I am cured. Miss Nora Shultz, 243 N. Third St., Reading, Pa., Jan. 4 and 7, 1909."

FOETRY,

I know a plan not far from here—
The flowers render sweet the air.
And one may rest him there nor for intrasion from the world of care.
The bees are softly droning there,
And in the forest keeps apace.
The birds are singing everywhere—
I know a place.

I know a place not far from here—
The wind is singing in the trees,
And in the forest one may share
The spirit of its melodies.
The wind that blows from over as
And sings upon the reach of space
Its universal symphonies—
I know a place,

I know a place not far from here—
The forest keeps are deep in shade.
And all that therein doth appear
With you is one that God hath made.
So fair His works are there displayed
Methinks in them I see His face
In all its loveliness arrayed—
I know a place.
